

Hello! We are writing to you from TX... we arrived home a couple weeks ago, from MN and WI. We feel that our trip went quite well and we greatly enjoyed our visits with people and Churches. We were greatly blessed on our trip and our pray that others were blessed as well. We pray that God would use the time that we were there for His glory and also that our support team will grow as a result.

We're back home and our bodies are starting to readjust to the temperature difference again. It took a few days. One evening on our stroll through the campus, we sat down on a bench for a rest, and Travis says, "brrr, it's kinda chilly tonight", then we both laughed knowing it is probably somewhere in the 80s. To his defense, there was a breeze.

Kay (our 19 year old daughter) did great home without us while we were gone. She now is on her last week of Spanish Language School. She is doing well but cannot wait until graduation day. Which, by the way, is also the finishing point of her homeschool high school education.

Angie and the boys are all happy to be home. Sam was so excited to see his friends. We are all striving to get back into a regular homeschool routine again. I think Sam missed his friends more than his schoolwork. 😊

Travis is back to work, here on campus. He is very excited to be back to some regular work hours in his office and has already been pretty busy. He is happy to be taking on some new responsibility and learning some new things on the network system and also spent quite a few hours working on a staff member's computer problems.

Baby who is now 33 weeks gestation is doing well. Angie does have high blood pressure, which is not abnormal for her. It is not preeclampsia, just high blood pressure. But something we appreciate prayer for is that it stays under control and doesn't turn into anything more.

WE WANT TO THANK YOU SO MUCH FOR YOUR PRAYER AND SUPPORT over the past couple months. We feel that prayers were answered: our car didn't break down on the road, we didn't get sick, and Kay did quite well at home, by herself. As for prayer for more support partners, we definitely need continual prayer in this area, right now. Our report comes the following month we have seen an increase and pray that it continues to increase, as the need is great. We ask that you please continue to pray with us that God will provide the support we need.
